

Within each model: does CID track known-answer MSE across parameter regimes?

One point per grid cell. A visible trend here means the parameter conditions where this model's trees are worse are also the conditions where its parameter estimates are worse.

