

Does the NT model actually beat Mk for the same parameters?

Points below the dashed line = NT closer to the true tree than Mk for that combination.

